innovating the game for an extraordinary time

27 May 2020

The knights of old would first put themselves beyond the possibility of defeat before mounting a devastating attack against their enemy; thus achieving victory. ~ Sun Tzu

At The Nf3 Agency we advance our select clients' interests in all domains, manifesting opportunities out of crisis. Today we find ourselves in possibly the most extraordinary time of any generation and the establishment business and political leadership largely are failing to meet expectations.

Simultaneously:

- The early days of a global pandemic of proportions not seen since the 1918-1920 Spanish Influenza
- An increasingly divided global, national and local political situation
- A failing economy
- The rapidly approaching Information Singularity

While our competitors often view these challenges as risks that must be mitigated we instead encourage our clients to rise above and innovate their game – find the opportunities that an environment of constant change generate. More than just a holistic look at our clients in a silo, Nf3 seeks to build synergetic partnerships between industry, government, academia and individuals.

Slated for a Q2 2020 Launch – Stay Tuned!
